Children Are More Susceptible to Environmental Toxins

Many contaminants found in tap water across the United States have been linked to cancer, developmental effects, learning disabilities, parasitic infections and intestinal disease. In 1993 the National Academy of Sciences detailed the primary reasons that children are more sensitive to the harmful effects of these chemicals:

A DEVELOPING CHILD'S CHEMICAL exposures are greater pound-for-pound than those of adults.

AN IMMATURE, POROUS BLOOD-BRAIN BARRIER allows greater chemical exposures to the developing brain.

CHILDREN HAVE LOWER LEVELS of some chemical-binding proteins, allowing more of a chemical to reach "target organs."

A BABY'S ORGANS AND SYSTEMS are rapidly developing, and thus are often more vulnerable to damage from chemical exposure.

SYSTEMS THAT DETOXYFY and excrete industrial chemicals are not fully developed.

THE LONGER FUTURE LIFE SPAN of a child compared to an adult allows more time for adverse effects to arise.

Nothing is More Important than a child's health

The Essential Nutrient

In today's world of diets, exercise, vitamins and minerals and herbal supplements, often the most fundamental nutrient, water, is overlooked. The fact is that a child's body can be more than 80% water. Every bodily function from breathing to digestion depends upon water.

Neurotoxins

Pesticides, herbicides, insecticides, solvents, lead, mercury, PCBs and dioxins have been linked to neurodevelopmental, learning and behavioral disorders in children. The fact is that most chemicals have unknown health effects and are not even tested for by municipal water systems.

Pesticides are Widespread

1.2 billion pounds of pesticides are released into the USA each year. Pesticides are so widespread that in a recent study of 10,000 streams across the US, at least one pesticide was found in every single stream. 20% of streams had 10 or more!

Even Small Amounts...

Surprisingly "low-level" exposures to certain environmental toxins have been associated with substantial health effects, including long-term or permanent learning disorders. Some studies indicate that even one small dose of a single chemical on the wrong day of development could cause permanent problems.

What about Fluoride?

Most people don't realize that fluoride is very toxic and there is considerable controversy about its safety. Now the American Dental Association (ADA) recommends that infants and young children should not drink fluoridated water.

Purity for Your Child

Everything that goes into your child's body should be as pure as possible. Pure, steam-distilled water is recognized by scientists and doctors as the gold-standard for purity, and when it's produced fresh every day it tastes fantastic! Make formula, juices, drinks, pasta and even ice cubes with pure, steam-distilled water!

Our Pure Water Packages include..

Complete Water Purification System.

Our Pure Water system is recognized around the world as the single best water purification system on the market. This system incorporates an automatic water softener, a premium water distillation appliance and carbon filters to ensure the highest purity water from virtually any source water. We have different sizes available so that any size of daycare or preschool can provide their children with pure drinking water and cooking water. Our system comes with all of the tubing and connections that are needed for hook-up.

Water Coolers & Dispensing.

An essential aspect of pure drinking water is proper hygiene, easy access and great taste. Our bottleless coolers are sealed systems that are never exposed to airborne bacteria like regular bottle coolers and drinking fountains. Our package includes multiple water coolers and a faucet for a kitchen. These coolers provide you with great tasting, chilled pure water.

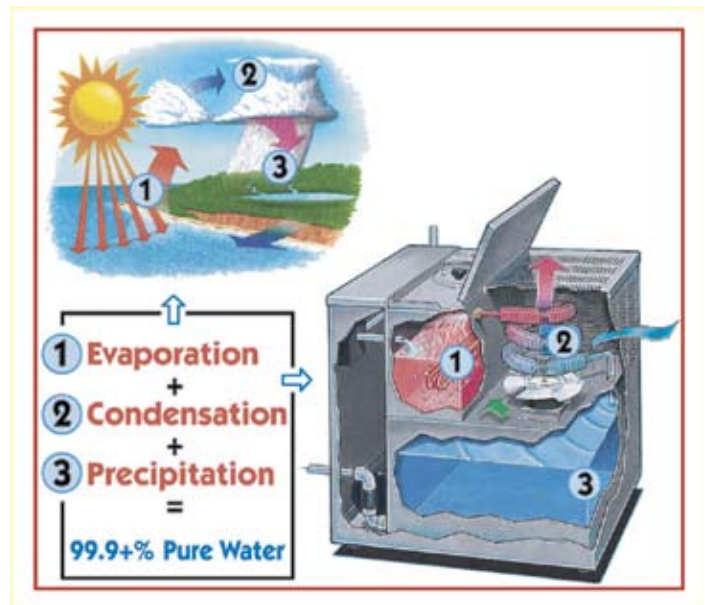

Promotional Materials Package.

Our system can make you money by increasing the trust that you earn with your customers. We give you a supply of promotional materials that you can use to promote your high-level commitment to your children's safety. We provide you with high-visibility posters, brochures, a press release that you can give to your local newspaper and even T-shirts. We also include an employee training guide so that your employees know the importance of pure water and they know how to explain it to your customers.

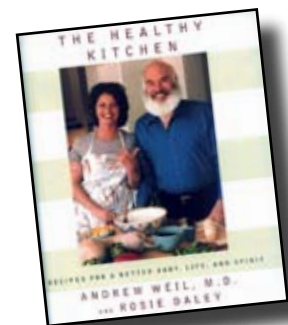

Steam Distillation is the Best Purification Method

Steam Distillation duplicates nature's hydrologic cycle by using the process of evaporation, condensation and precipitation. Distillation produces high-purity water on a consistent basis from any source water and is far superior to filters or reverse osmosis systems.

"I use a steam distiller to purify my water, because I believe distilled is the cleanest you can get."
